Notes from EMOA Meeting - 24th April 2023

Financial Secretary Report - In terms of income, an additional £349 covering the period from January to end of February has been received from British Orienteering. Event levies are almost up to date and in the period £578 had been received. In terms of expenses, the major expense is trophies for the EMOA League prizes and the purchase of a new M90 trophy and backdated engraving of W14 trophy costing £220. The Development conference costs of £122 in relation to the event catering have gone out. Further support has been provided for talented athletes to attend events.

Development - The EMOA Development Working Party has now got representatives from all 4 clubs.

The following is how it is understood to be working from the EMOA Committee standpoint.

- 1) The Development Working Party is responsible for setting up the criteria for funding of future development initiatives.
- 2) The Development Working Party would create a form (possibly based on O Foundation request form) for the submission of requests for funding for development work.
- 3) The Development Working Party would review any submissions when they were received and make recommendations to the EMOA Committee on which should be pursued.
- 4) The EMOA Committee will have the final say on the actual funding allocated to each project (otherwise we may need to make constitution changes).
- 5) The Development Working Party may need to determine how long it exists for, as it may be once the processes are set up that it may then be able to disband.

Therefore, the next steps for the Development Working Party will need to be:

- 1) Create the criteria for deciding on how to decide which development activities should be pursued.
- 2) Create the form to be used for submission of requests for Development funding.

EMEWS

In order to assist the Development Working Party, the level of reserves to be retained by the overall EMOA Committee was discussed in the meeting. The current policy has talked about 3 times our annual turnover. However, this would always be a flexible figure as each year had a different budget. We need a reasonable reserve in place to be able to cater for problems with a major event, or impact of foot and mouth / COVID. After discussion the following policy was agreed:

- 1) The EMOA committee should aim to keep a reserve in place of around £10,000.00.
- 2) Any money above this would be considered for the use of Development activities (currently this would be around £2,000.00).
- 3) The policy should be reviewed on a regular basis as, if major development activity was felt to be appropriate, we may want to fund this, or set the annual fees / levies at different rates as appropriate.

This should provide the Development Working Party with some initial funding level available for projects.

Junior Squad - See separate article for this report.

Fixtures - The 2023 League and Urban League are covered separately in EMEWS.

National Awards

At the recent National Awards, 2 members of the East Midlands community were awarded for their services to orienteering. In both cases they were unable to attend the actual event but were presented with their awards by the club at a later date:

- David Olivant (NOC) had won the Bonington Trophy mapping award this year.
- Ernie Williams (LEI) had won the Volunteer Award.

Below is David being presented with his Bonington Trophy award by the NOC Chairman, Richard Willis:

In Memoria - Jenny Tennant

It is with deep regret we note the passing of Jenny Tennant (ex-DVO) at the end of March 2023. Jenny was the second chairman of EMOA and was heavily involved with the introduction of orienteering into the region. A full obituary is available in DVO Newstrack and has been sent to CompassSport, but to note a few of Jenny's accomplishments:

- In 1967 she won the first ever JK Individual Women class
- Selected for British Team in World Champs coming 35th in individual in 1970 and also in 1972 where she was part of British team who came 9th in relay.
- In 1969 she was instrumental in the setting up of DVO.
- In 1975 was part of the winning British Champs relay team for DVO.
- In 1982 she was joint organiser of British Champs in Shining Cliff and Crich.

Jenny was always trying to encourage others and helping folk to improve their orienteering and back in EMEWS 12 (May 1972) she started a series of 5 articles on how to improve. I have decided to re-produce one of those articles below (if folk are interested I can reproduce others as many still apply) in memory of Jenny (it also shows to more recent converts some of the "older" aspects of orienteering):

This was the fourth part of the series (from EMEWS 16 - October 1972) entitled Lost:

Lost

So - in spite of all - you're LOST. Never mind, it happens to us all!

The only written advice I have seen was in "The Orienteer", Vol 4 No 1 - and as I disagree with the fundamental thinking lying behind the writer's words it shows that there is more than one way to approach the problem. This is my way of getting on terms with the map again and relating myself to my surroundings - for you to adopt, adapt, or reject as you will.

a) Possible reasons for getting lost

- i. Going too fast to number 1 - before "getting into" the map safely.
- ii. "Speed in excess of capacity will make the brain numb and lazy" - C. Schanning. And speed is a relative term and applies to everyone. When tired errors are more easily made and harder to rectify.
- iii. Other people:
  - i. I may abandon a route choice for no good reason.
  - ii. I may be caught up and pressured into moving too fast.
  - iii. I may be elated at catching up someone else and become careless
- iv. Over reliance on the compass - failing to keep an eye on the map, nor checking distance. Failure to stick on a bearing or sticking on it too long - or dare I say it - reversing the bearing - all end up in the completely wrong place.

b) Recognition of the fact - the moment the truth dawns that all is not well - STOP. Maybe you are running into the sun and the sweat is dripping off your face before you realise that it should be on your back - or that you're coasting downhill when you thought you were going to struggle up, or fields lie ahead where there should be forest. The earlier you recognise your mistake the better - a good orienteer may recognise it when it is still in the planning stage and has not yet been put into action. So - STOP - and if you're the sort of person who is likely to run wide-eyed in circles - and there are people who do - sit down.

c) Appraising the situation -

- i. Orientate the map: acknowledge that you do not know where you are and keep an open mind for the moment. So often we try to "bond" the map and / or terrain to fit where we think we are.
- ii. Recall:
  - i. Where you last know for sure where you were. Estimate roughly how long ago this was, on minute, five, perhaps ten if you are moving slowly through rough and featureless terrain.
  - ii. Whether you came on a bearing or not. Did you reverse it? This is easy to correct but there is no short cut - backtrack to where you took the bearing.

Knowing where you have come from and how long ago, will at least show you in what section of the map you are - and unless it is very thick you will probably know the direction you've arrived from on the ground. (Here you can see the importance of stopping and not allowing yourself to wander in circles).

- iii. Check the map - if you know you are in a particular area of it - for any feature which is peculiar to that area i.e. lake, tarn, quarry, power line, etc. and then if you come across that feature while checking other points you can assume where you are.
  - iv. Look about you - for any feature the mapper would have put in: slope of the ground, its direction and steepness, vegetation change (perhaps), stream, ditch, ridge, distance glimpse of high land. Keep the map orientated (believing that your compass does not lie - the sun will confirm) and look for the features you have seen within the area of forest you know you are in e.g. S.W. facing slope appears to fall away steeply lower down; sky visible low down between trees higher up - near top of the slope? Don't jump to conclusions because one feature appears in the right place - keep an open mind until at least 3 pieces fit and nothing provides contrary evidence.
  - v. Action - Knowing approximately where you are is not good enough. Make for a large and obvious feature - in this country one can nearly always pick up a line feature - it may mean climbing, it may mean travelling out of your way. Having reached a line feature, pinpoint your position on it. This is not always easy in a featureless coniferous forest where every ride crossing appears the same and all tracks run in a regular pattern; the contours may help, a stream proving a re-entrant with its dip in the road, or by moving to a ride junction another vista will show the lie of the land. (In Scandinavia it is much more difficult: there may not be a gathering feature for miles. Little marshes repeat themselves again and again; hummocks and hillocks all look alike, and the forest goes on for ever. On one lonely occasion I resorted to climbing to bump to get a view - I glimpsed competitors in the distance and found I'd left the map.
- d) Found - Having related yourself to the map - put the experience gained behind you. Do not try too madly to make up lost time - go steadily, ignore other people and keep in touch with the map at all times. Remember you've gone further and worked much harder than the winner so stop and make decisions carefully and you'll be surprised how quickly the controls and the Finish come round.
- e) No? Still Lost
- i. Check the time: the organisers will have put a closing time for the course by which you should have reported to the Finish. In the winter this will be at least an hour before sundown and in the summer 4pm or earlier. So, use your common sense, if you have already been out a couple of hours you may have to make straight for the Finish.

- ii. Plan your route to the Finish by following a line feature until you hit a substantial path or track, where the going is easy: and travel in the approximate direction of the Finish. Ask any competitor you may see to show you where you are on your map - orienteers are sympathetic to anyone in genuine difficulty.
- iii. If you are still lost at dusk remain on a main path at a path junction so that you can see if possible in two directions. Use your whistle if you see or hear anyone collecting control or looking for you.
- iv. Remember the golden rule of orienteering - you MUST report to the Finish whether you complete the course or not - if you do not report then someone will be sent out to look for you.

When lost - STOP, appraise the situation - then act.

[Jenny wishes to thank Lol Clarke for reading this part of her series, and for the suggestions he made].

EMJOS Report November 2022 to April 2023

Training:

Hawkshead 25th to 27th November JROS weekend

East Midlands sent 2 juniors (Hannah from LOG and Jake from DVO) to the JROS weekend based at Hawkshead YHA in the Lake District. A full 2 days of technical training and the infamous night relay in the grounds (see video on JROS website). Thanks to the coaches Dai, Chris and John for helping.

4th & 5th February 2023 Training with SCJS and YHJS

An opportunity to train on an adjacent area to the British Championships (Cold Ash) with South Central and Yorkshire & Humberside junior squads, was taken up by Ellie and Eoin with Ann-Marie as the coach. The training area was Rushall Woods (between Reading and Newbury) and then racing on the Sunday National Event at Waggoners Wells near Haslemere (near to last year's British Champs). Overnight accommodation was at the Scout Hall at Woking, with catering by the YHJS. Both juniors ran good runs at the National event, about 10mins off the winner's times.

Selections:

Talent North: Hannah (LOG) continues to participate with the training offered for the northern region.

Two of our mature juniors Rachel (W20 DVO) and Ben S (M20 NOC) have been selected again to run for Great Britain this summer:

Junior World O Champs (JWOC) 1 - 9 July 2023 in Baia Mare, Romania, and Junior European Cup (JEC) 26 - 28 August in Virton, Belgium

EMEWS

Future training:

30th April Nottingham Trent Uni, Clifton Campus hosted by WMJS

A request for a university sprint area was organised for the West Midlands squad at Nottingham Trent university. Just Josh will be joining the other squad.

21st May Rough Close (near Coventry) hosted by WMJS

A future session again with West Midlands squad, will have Eoin and Ellie join their friends at this session.

Final note - more junior athletes...

Are there any ideas or plans to link up with other running clubs (cross country, athletics, team sports) that have a junior section and offer them an alternative activity experience?

Ann-Marie Duckworth and Ant Squire (East Midlands Junior Squad coaches)

This Month's Puzzle

Again running in the plantation below, competitors have to get from the start to the finish. The numbers along the edges of the grid indicate how many sections of the plantation are used in the route (the numbers include the use of start and finish). The route cannot cross itself and only uses a plantation section once. The direction out of the start and into the finish are provided, along with a short section of the route.

Complete the route that gets you from the start to the finish, while meeting the number of plantation sections shown at the top of each column, and row. I'll provide the answer in next EMEWS.

Fixtures

This fixture list is intended to list all major events in the UK, and all East Midlands events. It includes all the information available to me about the event at the time of going to press. Details on entry are normally available on the club sites. Unless otherwise stated, Local events offer entry on the day (EOD) to a range of colour coded courses with start times from 10:30 to 12:30. Some will provide a wider range of courses than others. Regional events provide colour coded within which age classes can be run. National events provide a range of age-related courses and are normally entered in advance.

The OS map reference is either the car park or point from which the event will be signposted. The list is based on BOF registration, but events are sometimes cancelled. If you are uncertain of whether an event will be on, check with the organiser. The editor takes no responsibility for wasted journeys.

Many events are currently pre-entry only, so please check the event details before travelling.
